V...__ for Victory?

Introduction

Everyone knows the 'V FOR VICTORY' sign but what if there was something darker lurking in the shadows?

Éliphas Lévi (1810 – 1875) – French Occultist and Black Magician

Chapter 1 – World War 2 Alliance Propaganda

Second World War: V for Victory Campaign

On 18 May 1939, the French daily, Le Monde Quotidien had a headline of 'V Pour Victoire'.

On 14 January 1941, Victor de Laveleye, former Belgian Minister of Justice and director of the Belgian French-language broadcasts on the BBC (1940–44), suggested in a broadcast that Belgians use a V for Victoire (French: "Victory") and Vrijheid (Dutch: "Freedom") as a rallying emblem during the Second World War.

Subsequently, the BBC began the "V for Victory" campaign, for which they put in charge the assistant news editor Douglas Ritchie posing as "Colonel Britton". Ritchie suggested an audible V using its Morse code rhythm (three dots and a dash). As the rousing opening bars of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony had the same rhythm, the BBC used this as its call-sign in its foreign language programmes to occupied Europe for the rest of the war.

The more musically educated understood that it was the Fate motif "knocking on the door" of the German Third Reich.

The BBC actively encouraged the use of the V gesture introduced by de Laveleye.

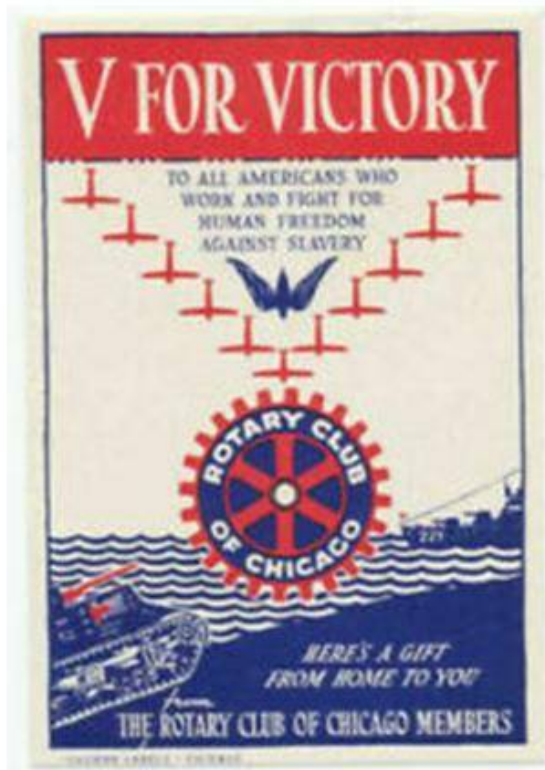

By July 1941, the emblematic use of the letter V had spread through occupied Europe. On 19 July, Prime Minister Winston Churchill referred approvingly to the "V for Victory" campaign in a speech, from which point he started using the V hand sign. Early on he sometimes gestured palm in (and sometimes with a cigar between the fingers).

Other allied countries also adopted the V sign including the USA, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Holland, Belgium and the French Resistance.

Charles de Gaulle (1890 - 1970) - French Army Officer and Statesman who led Free France against Nazi Germany in World War II. Also, French Resistance V Badge symbology incorporating the (Double) Cross of Lorraine.

BOEING B-17 FLYING FORTRESS 'VENI VIDI VICI'

"I came across one more decal to possibly add to the aircraft. My father's ball turret gunner, SSGT Howard Gaines from Louisville, Kentucky was a professional jockey. That's the main reason he was a ball turret gunner because he was so small. Anyway, there is a pretty cool artwork that was on the ball turret - "Kentucky Kid". This was definitely on Veni Vidi Vici and a very unique piece of artwork to be on the ball turret."

The crew of Veni Vidi Vici and the aircraft arrived in England in September of 1943. They flew out of Knettishall, England in the 562 Bomb Squadron of the 388th Bomb Group.

The Navigator, Rolla Garretson, submitted the name of their plane, Veni Vidi Vici (I Came, I Saw, I Conquered) as fitting for their mission over Nazi Germany. The term Veni Vidi Vici was coined by Julius Caesar in 47 BC in a letter to the Roman senate describing his recent victory over Pharnaces II of Pontus in the Battle of Zela. The pilot, First Lieutenant Herbert W. Moore of Edgewood, PA, and the rest of the crew completed their 25 missions on 20 Feb 44. 20 of those missions were flown on Veni Vidi Vici. None of the crew of Veni Vidi Vici were killed, wounded, or became POW's, and they all successfully completed their 25 missions. They were very fortunate since only 25% of 8th Air Force bomber crews completed their 25 missions. The crew of Veni Vidi Vici truly did live out their aircraft's name - they came, they saw and they conquered!

German VW Cars (French pronunciation 'V Double V') – Founded 1937 by the German Labour Front and Adolf Hitler

Volkswagen (VW) - a German motor vehicle manufacturer headquartered in Wolfsburg, Lower Saxony, Germany.

Founded in 1937 by the German Labour Front on the orders of Adolf Hitler.

Known for their iconic Beetle motor car.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler became involved with German car manufacturing, ordering the production of a basic vehicle capable of transporting two adults and three children at 100 km/h (62 mph).

Hitler wanted a car every German family would be able to afford - the "People's Car".

It soon became apparent that private industry could not turn out a car for only RM990. Thus, Hitler chose to sponsor an all-new, state-owned factory using Ferdinand Porsche's design (with some of Hitler's design suggestions, including an air-cooled engine so nothing could freeze).

V-Weapons

V-weapons, known in original German as Vergeltungswaffen ("retaliatory weapons", "reprisal weapons"), were a particular set of long-range artillery weapons designed for strategic bombing during World War II, particularly strategic bombing and/or aerial bombing of cities.

They comprised the V-1, a pulsejet-powered cruise missile; the V-2, a liquid-fueled ballistic missile; and the V-3 cannon.

All of these weapons were intended for use in a military campaign against Britain, though only the V-1 and V-2 were so used in a campaign conducted 1944–45.

After the invasion of Europe by the Allies, these weapons were also employed against targets on the mainland of Europe, mainly France and Belgium.

Strategic bombing with V-weapons killed approximately 18,000 people, mostly civilians.

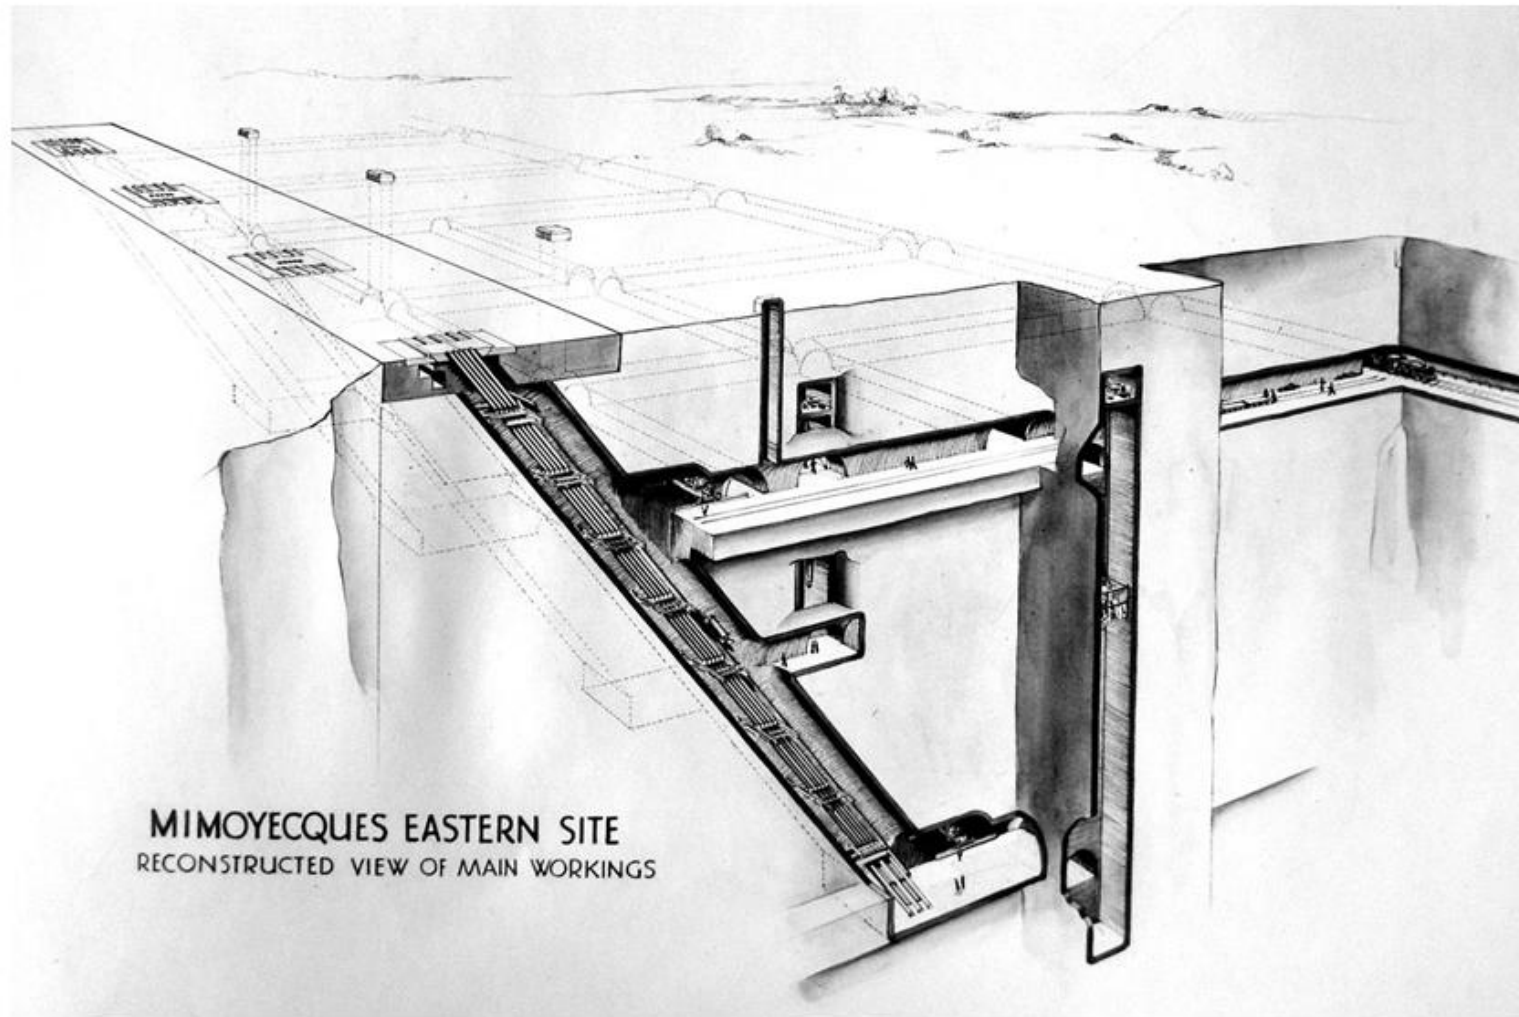

The cities of London, Antwerp and Liège were the main targets.

The V-Weapons were part of the range of the so-called WunderWaffen (WonderWeapons) of Nazi Germany.

Chapter 3 – Occult Symbolism

Éliphas Lévi (born Alphonse Louis Constant) (1810 - 1875)

Eliphas Levi (1810 to 1875) - Occultist and Black Magician

Éliphas Lévi Zahed, born Alphonse Louis Constant (8 February 1810 – 31 May 1875), was a French esotericist, poet, and author of more than twenty books about magic, Kabbalah, alchemical studies, and occultism. He pursued an ecclesiastical career in the Catholic Church until, after great personal struggle, at the age of 26, he abandoned the Roman Catholic priesthood.

At the age of 40 he started to profess a knowledge of the occult, also becoming a reputed ceremonial magician.

His works attracted the attention of the heterogeneous ambiances of the era in Paris and London; from esotericists to artists of romantic or symbolist inspiration.

Lévi - a historically documented member of the Masonic Lodge of the "Great Orient" of France to which he was initiated in 1861.

The Freemasons – an organization that Éliphas Lévi professed to have left in 1864.

Many authors influenced Lévi's political, occultic and literary development, such as the French monarchist Joseph de Maistre, whom he quotes in many parts of his Dogme et Rituel de la Haute Magie, Paracelsus, Robert Fludd, Swedenborg, Fabre d'Olivet, the Rosicrucianists, Plato, Raymond Lull, and other esoterics.

Aleister Crowley

Many books have been written on the subject of Aleister Crowley and the stories and myths surrounding him are LEG-END-ARY.

Jimmy Page (of Led Zeppelin fame) worshipped Crowley so much he even bought his house, Boleskine, on the banks of Loch Ness.

Aleister Crowley – most likely the real Loch Ness Monster.

His motto -“Do What Thou Wilt”.

“When the Second World War broke out, Crowley wrote to the Naval Intelligence Division offering his services, but they declined. He associated with a variety of figures in Britain's intelligence community at the time, including Dennis Wheatley, Roald Dahl, Ian Fleming, and Maxwell Knight, and claimed to have been behind the "V for Victory" sign first used by the BBC; this has never been proven.”

Dwight D. Eisenhower & Richard Nixon - Brothers in Arms

Dwight David "Ike" Eisenhower (1890 – 1969) was an American military officer and statesman who served as the 34th president of the United States from 1953 to 1961. During World War II, he served as Supreme Commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force in Europe, and achieved the rare five-star rank of General of the Army. He was responsible for planning and supervising the invasion of North Africa in Operation Torch in 1942–1943 and the successful invasion of Normandy in 1944–1945 from the Western Front.

Presidents Eisenhower and Nixon could not have had more different reputations among the American public. The 34th president was widely respected as a World War II hero, and the 37th president is recalled as the symbol of the biggest political scandal in American history.

However, they both shared the same 'sign language' – In Hoc Signo Vinces...

Putin sends troops to eastern Ukraine

White House wrestles with what counts as an 'invasion'

By Ashley Parker

The White House on Monday continued the reality that its months-long efforts to secure a Russian invasion of Ukraine would probably be futile, as officials grappled for last-ditch ways to lead of what was called "military action that could take place in the coming hours or days."

Russian President Vladimir Putin spent the weekend effectively closing off one diplomatic path after another, suggesting more and more clearly that he would not be moved by diplomacy or security guarantees. Secretary of State Antony Blinken said he was recognizing the Russian separatist regions of Donetsk and Luhansk, and that he would support the Russian-backed forces in the region.

The Biden administration sought to hit back at Russia's aggressive action while avoiding the risk of declaring that it had officially invaded Ukraine, which would have triggered the entry of backing nations. President Biden has been warning at times for weeks.

Biden, amid meetings Monday with his national security advisers and calls with several foreign leaders, Biden and his team released their grim assessment of the crisis and imposed a number of sanctions prohibiting U.S. investment and trade significantly in the technology sector.

Administration officials said additional measures — including more sanctions — would be announced Tuesday and emphasized that the U.S. would continue to support Ukraine's efforts to defend itself from the Russian invasion.

Joe Biden, president of the United States, a global security ally, said Putin's actions followed a "clear path" and that he would make a move against Ukraine's life-threatening situation.

TCP: Vuh, 10, Anys, 16, and Zheny, 7, are seen as home Monday in Zoloke — a town in Ukraine's Luhansk region on the front line in the area, recognized as independent by Russian President Vladimir Putin — where they said they had experienced shelling from Russian-backed separatists in past days. The three were prepared to flee in the event of a full-scale Russian invasion of the region. ABOVE LEFT: Russian troop transports head toward the Ukrainian border.

RUSSIA RECOGNIZES SEPARATIST AREAS

West condemns actions as region moves toward war

By Robert D'Amico, Russ Simon, and Ellen Nakashima

MOSCOW — Russian President Vladimir Putin on Monday recognized the independence of two Moscow-backed separatist regions in eastern Ukraine and ordered Russian forces into their territory for "peacekeeping" purposes, a dramatic escalation in a crisis that is threatening a full-scale war.

Putin's action — in direct defiance of U.S. and European warnings — was swiftly condemned by Washington and Brussels, with top officials expressing concern for the region's stability and the potential for a full-scale war.

The move was seen as a clear signal that Russia was preparing for a full-scale war with Ukraine, and that it was willing to risk a major conflict with the West.

For weeks, Putin has been building the world on suspense, with some major Russian personnel understanding the force of the situation.

In a televised address to the Russian nation Monday, Putin dropped much of the previous narrative and the Luhansk People's Republic, and demanding the international community to recognize the region's independence.

"Ukraine has never had its own national identity," Putin said during a meeting Tuesday with Russian leaders.

He also said that the idea of Ukraine as an independent state was a "myth" and that the country's development was a "myth."

victory (n.)

c. 1300, "military supremacy, victory in battle or a physical contest," from Anglo-French and Old French victorie (12c.) and directly from Latin victoria "victory," from past participle stem of vincere "to overcome, conquer" (from nasalized form of PIE root *weik- (3) "to fight, conquer"). V.E. ("victory in Europe") and V.J. ("victory in Japan") days in World War II were first used Sept. 2, 1944, by James F. ### Ferdinand Porsche and Volkswagen - 1934

On June 22, 1934 "Reichsverband der Deutschen Automobilindustrie" commissions Ferdinand Porsche to design a Volkswagen subsidized by the state. The engineer born in Maffersdorf, Bohemia in 1875 initially worked at Daimler-Motoren-Gesellschaft, before opening his own engineering office in 1930. Porsche acquired a reputation as a brilliant engineer with his small car developed for NSU and racing cars designed for Auto Union.

Inside a small garage on Speedway Avenue, I stood on the rear bumper of a Volkswagon. I lay on my back over the rear section of the car, stretching my arms onto the roof of the car. The garage door was opened and the car was pushed half-way out into the Speedway. Screaming for me, the engine was run at full speed for two minutes. After two minutes, the engine was turned off and the car pushed back into the garage. The door was closed.

Extract from 'Suetonius – The Twelve Caesars'

Chapter 1 - Julius Caesar

6. During his quaestorship he made the customary funeral speeches from the Rostra in honour of his aunt Julia and his wife Cornelia; and while eulogizing Julia's maternal and paternal ancestry, did the same for the Caesars too. 'Her mother', he said, 'was a descendant of kings, namely the Marcii Reges, a family founded by the Roman King Ancus Marcius; and her father, of gods – since the Julians (of which we Caesars are a branch) reckon descent from the Goddess Venus. Thus Julia's stock can claim both the sanctity of kings, who reign supreme among mortals, and the reverence due to gods, who hold even kings in their power.'

The Solar System

Planets are natural objects that orbit a star. The Sun is a star at the centre of the Solar System. All planets, including the Earth, continuously orbit the Sun because of its large gravitational force. The orbital time of each planet depends on its distance from the Sun.

The Two Babylons by Rev. Alexander Hislop (1807–65)

First published in 1853 by the Presbyterian Free Church of Scotland theologian Alexander Hislop.

The central theme of the book is that the ancient Babylonian religion provided the basis for modern day Roman Catholic Christianity.

Cover of the 7th edition of The Two Babylons (1871) by Rev. Alexander Hislop

Whilst discussing the origins of Easter, reference is made to the mystic egg of the Babylonians:

“and thus its tale is told by Hyginus, the Egyptian, the learned keeper of the Palatine library at Rome in the time of Augustus, who was skilled in all the wisdom of his native country: “An egg of wondrous size is said to have fallen from heaven into the river Euphrates. The fishes rolled it to the bank, where the doves having settled upon it, and hatched it, out came Venus, who afterwards was called the Syrian Goddess”*—that is, Astarte. Hence the egg became one of the symbols of Astarte or Easter; and accordingly, in Cyprus, one of the chosen seats of the worship of Venus, or Astarte, the egg of wondrous size was represented on a grand scale.† The occult meaning of this mystic egg of Astarte, in one of its aspects (for it had a twofold significance), had reference to the ark‡ during the time of the flood,”

Babylonian Religion - the Basis for Modern Day Roman Catholic Christianity?

Based on Hislop's premise in "The Two Babylons", could the wondrous egg of VENUS falling from Heaven into the Euphrates, rolled to the banks by the fishes and hatched by the doves (as described by Hyginus) provide an alternative source for the Biblical story of NOAH'S ARK?

From the 17th century star charts of Johannes Hevelius, COLUMBA the DOVE can clearly be seen located next to the celestial star ship ARGO NAVIS.

In Harmonia Macrocosmica by Andreas Cellarius (published 1660), Argo Navis is even labelled up as "Arca Nöe".

Was the wondrous sized egg in actual fact a STAR-SHIP from VENUS endeavouring to escape a planetary cataclysm?

Perhaps there were other star-ships with colonisers from Venus.

Hence the Ishtar Egg Hunt?

Examining the genealogy of Noah, the Bible tells us that Noah was only nine generations away from Adam and Eve.

Biblical genealogy [\[ edit \]](#)

Lamech is the eighth-generation descendant of Adam (Genesis 5:25<sup>[4]</sup>), the son of Methuselah, and the father of Noah (Gene was a grandson of Kenan descended from Adam.<sup>[3]</sup>

Genesis 5:28–31 records that Lamech was 182<sup>[4]</sup> (according to the Masoretic Text; 188 according to the Septuagint<sup>[5]</sup>) years o Masoretic chronology. With such numbers in this genealogical account, Adam would still have been alive for about the first 56 ;

Noah appears in Genesis 5:29 as the son of Lamech and ninth in descent from Adam.

In the story of the Deluge (Genesis 6:11–9:19), he is represented as the patriarch who, because of his blameless piety, was chosen by God to perpetuate his race after his wicked contemporaries had perished in the Flood.

The story of the Flood has close affinities with Babylonian traditions of apocalyptic floods in which Utnapishtim plays the part corresponding to that of Noah. These mythologies are the source of such features of the biblical Flood story as the building and provisioning of the ark, its flotation, and the subsidence of the waters, as well as the part played by the protagonist. Tablet XI of the Gilgamesh epic introduces Utnapishtim, who, like Noah, survived cosmic destruction by heeding divine instruction to build an ark.

THE QUEENS OF HEAVEN

ASTARTE – INANNA - ISHTAR (EASTER) – VENUS – APHRODITE – the VIRGIN MARY

Astarte - the Queen of Heaven to whom the Canaanites burned offerings and poured libations (Jeremiah 44).

Astarte was worshiped in Egypt and Ugarit and among the Hittites, as well as in Canaan. Her Akkadian counterpart was Ishtar. Later she became assimilated with the Egyptian deities Isis and Hathor (a goddess of the sky and of women), and in the Greco-Roman world with Aphrodite, Artemis and Juno.

Ref: <https://www.britannica.com/topic/Astarte-ancient-deity>

Inanna was also known as the Queen of Heaven and was the patron goddess of the Eanna temple at the city of Uruk, which was her main cult centre. She was associated with the planet Venus and her most prominent symbols included the lion and the eight-pointed star. Her husband was the god Dumuzid (later known as Tammuz).

Inanna was originally worshiped in Sumer and later by the Akkadians, Babylonians, and Assyrians under the name Ishtar.

The Venus tablet of Ammisaduqa referred to the planet Venus in the tablet as the "bright queen of the sky" or "bright Queen of Heaven".

Aphrodite was syncretized with the Roman goddess Venus. The cult of Aphrodite was largely derived from that of the Phoenician goddess Astarte, a cognate of the East Semitic goddess Ishtar, whose cult was based on the Sumerian cult of Inanna.

The Virgin Mary - Queen of Heaven (Latin: Regina Caeli) - a title given by the Catholic Church.

The VIRGIN BIRTH - Parthenogenesis

Parthenogenesis is the spontaneous development of an embryo from an unfertilized egg cell. It naturally occurs in a variety of plant and animal species.

Parthenogenesis is known to occur in bees, lizards, snakes, birds and sharks amongst other life forms.

Jacob Bryant's Orphic Egg with Ananke (Serpent) (1774)

The Orphic Egg in the Ancient Greek Orphic tradition is the cosmic egg from which hatched the primordial hermaphroditic deity Phanes.

Phanes means "to bring light" or "to shine" and is related to the Greek "to shine forth" as well as the Latin "Lucifer".

The Royal Secret – Parthenogenesis?

Like Julius Caesar, are the modern Kaiser Chiefs descended from VENUS?

Do the Royal bloodlines exhibit parthenogenesis like Queen Bees?

Queen Victoria (1819 to 1901) and Albert, Prince Consort (1819 to 1861) – married 10th February 1840.

Queen Victoria hated being pregnant, viewed breast-feeding with disgust, and thought newborn babies were ugly.

Over eighteen years, she and Albert had nine children:

Victoria (b.1840)
Albert Edward (b. 1841)
Alice (b. 1843)
Alfred (b. 1844)
Helena (b. 1846)
Louise (b. 1848)
Arthur (b. 1850)
Leopold (b. 1853)
Beatrice (b. 1857)

When Albert died on 14 December 1861, Victoria entered a state of mourning and wore black for the remainder of her life. She avoided public appearances and rarely set foot in London in the following years. Her seclusion earned her the nickname "widow of Windsor". Her weight increase was attributed to comfort eating, and was said to have reinforced her aversion to public appearances.

Was Queen Victoria still producing children by parthenogenesis after Albert's death?

Queen Victoria (1819 to 1901) and Albert, Prince Consort (1819 to 1861) with their nine children

Direct ancestors of Queen Victoria included:

Countess Augusta Reuss of Ebersdorf	10 children
Ferdinande Henriette, Countess of Stolberg-Gedern	13 children
Christine of Mecklenburg-Güstrow	23 children
Magdalena Sibylle of Holstein-Gottorp	11 children
Duchess Marie Elisabeth of Saxony	16 children
Magdalene Sibylle of Prussia	10 children
Anne of Bohemia and Hungary	15 children
Eleanor of Navarre	11 children
Eleanor of Castile, Queen of Navarre	8 children
